In nine years since its launch, CRE Moscow Awards emerged into a notable event shaping professional opinions, values and priorities in the industry. Winning this award is considered to be an important achievement in professional community reinforcing winner's image in Russia and globally.

Some 750 participants joined the "birthday" celebration of commercial real estate in the Forum Hall this year.

125 companies received the Golden Brick award between 2003 and 2011. This year's contestants included commercial real estate projects completed in 2011 and deals made in 2011. The jury traditionally included approximately 300 investors, developers, architects and appraisers of commercial real estate.
